The Daily Required Volumes shall be calculated by the Company by a) multiplying the suppliers weather gas factor, as estimated by the Company, times the forecasted HDD's, b) adding the base gas and c) adjusting the results to produce, in the aggregate of all suppliers and the Company, the Company's total estimated sendout for that day. The suppliers base and weather use factors will be based on such factors for each of their customers as estimated by the Company. The result of this calculation shall be adjusted for lost and unaccounted-for gas and Company Use and a wet to dry measurement basis. In addition, such daily deliveries maybe adjusted by the Company to accommodate the supplier's Imbalance Account. LIABILITY LIMITS

The Company shall not be liable for any loss, cost, damage or expense occasioned by the calculation of the DRV. The Supplier shall warrant that, at the time of delivery of gas to the customer, it will have good title to deliver all gas volumes. The Company shall have no liability with respect to all gas transported prior to its physical delivery to the Company or after its re-delivery to the Customer.

CREDIT WORTHINESS

Prior to the Company approving an Application to provide service to customers and during the provision of service, the Supplier must demonstrate to the Company's satisfaction that it has met and continues to meet the credit worthiness criteria as set forth in the Application Agreement.

Based on the Company's credit worthiness criteria, a supplier may be required to post security with the Company. The security amount shall be computed and billed to Suppliers for the winter season, November through March, and for the summer season, April through October. Such security amounts shall be the product of (1) volumes at risk, (2) price at risk, (3) time at risk as computed in the following manner:

- A. The volumes at risk shall be computed as the Suppliers' allocated design day demand less peaking as calculated on or around September 1 for the winter season, and the suppliers' allocated design day demand less peaking and storage as calculation on or around February 1 for the summer season.
- B. The price risk for the winter season shall be equal to the highest fifteen-day rolling average winter (November – March) delivered cost of gas to the Company from the previous five years. The price at risk for the summer season shall be equal to the highest fifteen-day rolling average summer (April – October) delivered cost of gas to the Company from the previous five years.
- C. The time at risk shall be the sum of five calendar days of possible non-performance and ten days of administration per month, which includes time for Commission and customer notification.

The security amounts for the winter and summer seasons, computed as set forth in this rate schedule, shall be posted with the Company by October 15 and March 15, respectively. As an initial credit measure, the Company will assess Suppliers joining the Delivery Service Program for the first time a five thousand dollar (summer season) or ten thousand dollar (winter season) security amount. The Company reserves the right to adjust the security amount requirement if the Supplier's customer enrollment level changes by more than twenty percent between the seasonal security posting periods.

Upon notification by the Company that the Supplier no longer satisfies the credit criteria or has failed to timely pay any bill rendered under this schedule, the Supplier is disqualified until such time as satisfactory evidence is provided by the Supplier that the Supplier's overall financial condition again meets the Company's credit criteria or an acceptable credit enhancement, including but not limited to a cash deposit, letters of credit or surety bonds, is furnished to the Company.

GAS QUALITY STANDARDS

The Supplier warrants that gas transported to the Company conforms to the quality standards stated in the transporting interstate gas pipeline's FERC approved Tariff.

Firm Delivery Service Gas Supplier Agreement – Rate Schedule No. 5 (continued)

DELIVERY TAX CHARGE

For bills rendered on and after December 2, 2005, all customer gas consumption under this rate schedule shall also be billed an amount per therm for District of Columbia Delivery Tax in accordance with the applicable sections of the District of Columbia Official Code. This charge replaces the Gross Receipts Tax Charge that was based on the effective tax rate along with the billing of revenues to which it applied.

BILLING

At the request of a supplier, the Company will include the supplier's billing amount on the Company's bill. The Company will charge the supplier 50¢ per account each month. Billing by the Company of the supplier's charges shall be performed under a "rate-ready" protocol. The terms and conditions of such service will be stated in a separate contract between the supplier and the Company.

PAYMENT TERMS

Bills are due and payable upon presentation. The final date for payment of the net amount shown on the bill is 10 days from the date of rendition of the bill. Failure to receive the bill does not excuse the Supplier from payment obligations and payments shall be made without regard to any counterclaim whatever. Bills remaining unpaid at the expiration of the net payment period shall be subject to a Late Payment Charge of 1.5% per month applied to any unpaid amount.

REVENUE ACCOUNTING

Revenues received from penalty charges and other charges imposed through this Rate Schedule shall be credited in the calculation of the Purchased Gas Charge set forth in General Service Provision No. 16.

COST RESPONSIBILITY

The supplier shall be responsible for the payment of any tax or assessment levied by any jurisdiction related to the acquisition, delivery or use of delivered gas included but not limited to District of Columbia Receipt Tax.

EQUALIZATION CHARGE

An Equalization Charge shall be computed and billed to suppliers applicable to service during the current billing month which shall be the product of: (1) the customer's assigned pipeline and storage capacity, and (2) the Equalization Charge Per Dth. Such charge is subject to re-determination to be effective with the annual ACA for the December billing period each year.

CAPACITY ASSIGNMENT

In order to assign capacity consistent with the terms below the Company will determine the capacity requirements to serve the design day demand of each supplier's customers. The supplier's demand will be served with capacity comprised of firm transportation, storage (the Company will retain the contractual rights to this capacity but allow the supplier to utilize it when necessary) and peaking. Assignment of capacity from these resources will be determined by the Company based on the Company's portfolio mix at that point in time. Storage and peaking capacity assignments will be mandatory and firm transportation capacity will be partially mandatory as described below.

The capacity level of each resource will be determined by the Company; annually for the allocation amongst the types of capacity resources and monthly for the capacity allocation amongst the suppliers. Washington Gas will assign suppliers with 50 percent of their transportation capacity requirement from the Company's current portfolio of firm primary point transportation contracts.

Adrian P. Chapman - Vice President, Operations, Regulatory Affairs & Energy Acquisition

Suppliers may avoid the mandatory assignment of transportation capacity if the supplier can demonstrate that they have primary point transportation capacity under contract for a minimum of five years (firm for the period of the contract or one year firm with annual renewal). These contracts must cover the supplier's firm design day transportation requirements for the months of January and February. If the supplier's contracted level of firm, primary point transportation capacity is less than 50 percent of their design day requirements for January and February; the Company will assign the remaining amount to the supplier.

The supplier, at the sole discretion of the Company, may exercise an option of a voluntary assignment of firm transportation for up to 100 percent of its firm transportation requirement.

- A. If a customer requests to return to sales service, the associated assigned capacity shall return to the Company for use in serving the customer. This would occur whether at contract expiration or if the customer returns prior to contract expiration.
- B. Storage Gas Inventory
 1. If a supplier receives an assignment of storage on April 1 then that supplier must purchase a prorata portion of the Company's storage gas inventory at that time. If a supplier receives an assignment of storage at any other time then the supplier must purchase from the Company an amount of storage gas inventory necessary so that, based on pro rata injections, the supplier has the total amount required by the end of the injection period, October 31st of each year. The purchase price shall be determined based on the volumes purchased, as if they had been injected into storage on a pro rata basis over the time from the prior April 1st at the injection price paid by the Company during those months.
 2. If the requirement for storage gas inventory occurs after the end of the injection period then the supplier must purchase the amount of storage gas inventory that the Company would have remaining on its books applicable to their customers. The price for such purchases shall be the weighted average rate of storage gas inventory on the Company's books at that time.
 3. All purchase prices, as determined above, shall include carrying costs based on the Company's then authorized pre-tax rate of return
 4. If the supplier's requirements are decreased then the supplier must sell to the Company the amount of storage gas inventory no longer required and it shall be priced as described in 1 or 2 above. If the suppliers requirements are increased and that change coincides with the beginning of the injection period the Company will inject, on a pro rata basis, the supplier's requirements and bill them at the prices paid by the Company during those months

The Company will monitor the supplier's compliance with these capacity assignment requirements and non-compliance will make the supplier ineligible for participation under this rate schedule.

GENERAL SERVICE PROVISIONS

Except as otherwise specifically provided herein, the application of this schedule is subject to the General Service Provisions of the Company as they may be in effect from time to time, and as filed with the Public Service Commission.
